KAISER TO WIELD SWORD; TO TEACH ENEMIES A LESSON

BERLIN, July 31.—The German emperor made a war speech to the people of Berlin today, in which he expressed the hope that if he was unable to induce his opponents to maintain peace he would wield the sword and show his enemies what it meant to provoke Germany.

The emperor has summoned the Reichstag to meet on Tuesday at the royal palace and hear the decision of the emperor and the Bundesrath, and if necessary, to vote a war credit.

Five thousand persons assembled in front of the palace late this afternoon and cheered the emperor and empire. During the demonstration Emperor William appeared in a window and addressed his subjects as follows:

"A fateful hour has fallen for Germany. Envious nations everywhere are compelling us to our just defense. The sword has been forced into our hands.

"I hope that if my efforts at the League do not succeed in bringing our opponents to see eye to eye with us in maintaining the peace, with God's help to so wield the sword that we shall restore it to its sheath again with honor.

"War would demand of us an enormous sacrifice, in life and property, but we shall show our enemies what it means to provoke Germany. Now, I commend you to God. Go to church and kneel before God and pray."

COPENHAGEN, July 31.—Preparations for the mobilization of the Danish army were completed today. The cabinet has decided to issue a declaration of neutrality tomorrow in conjunction with a similar declaration issued by the governments of Sweden and Norway.

Both German and English warships were observed today in Danish waters. Two German torpedo boats, A-100 and A-101, steamed close to the fort at Middelfund, a few miles from Copenhagen. The warships retired only after being commanded to do so by the commandant of the fortress, who threatened to resort to force if the LONDON, July 31. There are only two factors tonight giving the faintest hope of averting a general European war—first, Russia and Austria are engaged again in direct negotiations; second, both Great Britain and France are using their utmost endeavors in favor of peace.

On the other hand, the Government has ordered a general mobilization, and Germany has already admitted a state of siege. It is undoubtedly in a state of peril, and it is not over-mobilized. It has not yet mobilized its reserves, and it has not yet mobilized its air force.

U.S. MAY HAVE TO POLICE CHINA SHOULD EUROPEAN WAR COME

Foreign Forces Would Be Withdrawn to Aid Home
Governments

WASHINGTON, July 31.—Responsibility for the maintenance of order in China, in the event of a general European conflict, observers here believe, will fall largely upon the United States. At present the international guard in Chili province, including American marines and soldiers, approximately 9,000 officers and men. Of these forces 335 American marines under command of Major Dion Williams are guarding the legation at Peking, while 1,300 infantrymen with a machine gun platoon are at Tien Tsin, under command of Col. John C. E. Tillson.

It was suggested tonight that if a general European war came foreign troops other than those of the United States and possibly Japan, might be withdrawn to augment home forces and to prevent complications in China. It is thought, however, that the present American force would be sufficient to guarantee order and insure undisturbed traffic on the railroad between Tien Tsin and the capital city of Peking. In any event the American Asiatic naval squadron always is available as well as troops from the Philippines.

Foreign troops in China other than Americans, according to latest reports, include:

Great Britain, 2,000 officers and men; Austria-Hungary, 57; Belgium, 31; France, 1,462; Germany, 459; Italy, 221; Holland 25.

NO DANGER OF PANIC IN U. S., SAY OFFICIALS

submitted to the senate, tonight it was believed that Edwin A. Potter of Chicago would be chosen. Mr. Potter is a banker of wide experience and a Republican.

Officials in Washington were unusually optimistic regarding the general financial outlook in the United States. Secretary McAdoo had no worries over the exportation of American gold, though he approved heartily the closing of the stock exchanges in order to check it. He referred to the patriotism of the bankers of the country who, he felt assured, would not permit exchanges that would be disadvantageous to the nation.

"America is in a position to take care of herself," the secretary said.

U. S. Mobilizes Bank Reserves.
In the senate optimistic notes were sounded on all sides, regardless of party affiliations and Senator Nelson of Minnesota dramatically declared:

"In Europe they mobilize armies and navies; in America we mobilize bank reserves."

The senate passed only long enough to allow several senators to laud present banking and financial conditions and to explain that the measure was passed merely as a precautionary measure and not because of any pressing present necessity.

"Europe is in a crisis," Senator Owen said, in presenting the measure. "The great central banks of France and Germany and England have practically suspended specie payment. Something should be done to prepare this country to meet any emergency that may arise."

Senator Smoot said the bill should not be taken for a "panic measure" and added:

"The treasury and the banking business of the country are in a splendid condition to meet any emergency."

"There is in the treasury fifteen hundred million dollars in gold and silver," Senator Owen added. "150,000,000 in gold reserve and 130,000,000 free gold in the general fund. These immense funds with 500,000,000 emergency currency available, would enable this country to face any financial crisis."

COL. BULGER PLEADS INSANITY FOR MURDER

DENVER, July 31.—X-ray photographs of the skull of Col. James C. Bulger were shown to the jury today in Bulger's trial for the killing of L. F. Nicodemus. The pictures were exhibited in support of the defendant's insanity plea, and were intended to show what Bulger's attorneys claim are fragments of a bullet lodged in the brain.

At the opening of the afternoon session, alienists were called to the stand, the state asking questions by which it is sought to show that Bulger's act when he shot Nicodemus was not that of an insane man, but one that was intoxicated and quarrelsome. As tomorrow is a holiday, it is expected that the case will not be concluded before next Tuesday.

CAPTURE OF BELGRADE ACCOMPLISHED UNDER GREAT DIFFICULTIES

Bridge Blown Up by Serbs and Crossing Is Made Under Heavy Fire

LONDON, July 31.—A Semblé dispatch says: "The Austrians crossed the Danube 30 miles to the east of Belgrade and the Save 10 miles to the south. Belgrade has been captured and is now occupied by Austrian troops and the force which invaded Serbia at Semendria is advancing along the road which leads to Osiparica and ultimately to Nish." "The occupation of Belgrade was carried out without serious difficulty. The invading troops crossed the river, partly by means of the remnants of the railway bridge which was blown up by the Serbs, and partly by a pontoon bridge constructed under cover and approached the Serbian capital from the south. The attacking forces advanced by a steep hill, driving the Serbs before them. The Serbs retreated, partly along the

The kidney secretions caused me no end of annoyance and I became so badly run down that I could hardly drag myself around. I was weak and my feet, limbs and ankles were swollen. FRANCO-GERMAN BORDER TROUBLE ALREADY BEGUN

FRENCH CAVINET CONSIDERS SITUATION

German Cavalry Alleged to Have Penetrated Territory of France

PARIS, Aug. 1.—(Saturday).—The French cabinet council deliberated until early this morning, discussing the crisis and prospective measures. President Poincaré signed three decrees, the first extending until August 31, the payment of obligations coming due in that time; the second, prohibiting the export of grains and other products of the soil; and the third, abolishing duties on the importation of farinaceous products. A brief formal statement setting forth the action of the council, was given out and a review of the department to date was sent out by a semi-official news agency. This communication, after referring to the extreme gravity of the crisis, says:

"It is learned that since July 25, up today Germany has armed its forces and concentrated to the east of Thionville (Diedenhofen) and Metz, a number of army corps. Their outposts are formed of numerous troops on the border of our immediate frontier. The patrols of cavalry of Germany have even penetrated into our territory. "We know also of other grave acts which have been committed. Communication has been cut, the routes have been barred and prohibited by soldiers; numerous automobiles, proceeding as tourists have lost their machines through confiscation. Railroads in proximity to the frontier have been destroyed and machine guns have been placed along this district. Three locomotives of the Eastern Railroad company have been stopped at Montreux-Vieux, a German frontier station, and 14 other locomotives at Amannvillers (another German station) have been put in such condition as to make their return to France impossible. At the moment there is no normal means of transit between France and Germany. We believe that the council of ministers deliberated on these facts and considered measures necessary."

road leading to Groca and partly toward Popovich. The losses of both sides appeared to have been comparatively light. "The invasion of Serbia at Semendria was a much more difficult task. The Austrians built a pontoon bridge under cover of darkness from an island in the middle of the Danube, where the channel narrows to 200 yards and the current is swift. The construction of the bridge was a hazardous operation. The work was perceived from the Serbian shore and the Serbs opened fire. The attacking forces were aided by artillery and infantry along the south shore of the island, and succeeded in completing the bridge, over which they passed."

NEGRO LYNCHED FOR MURDERING AN INDIAN

EUPAULA, OKLA., Aug. 1.—(Saturday).—Crockett Williams, a negro, held in jail charged with the murder of Johnson King, an Indian, was taken from the jail here by a mob early this morning and lynched. "When a Chinese lady approaches a muddy place, she beckons a boy. The boy drops on his hands and knees in the mud, and the lady uses him as a stepping stone, for which she gives him a small coin."

EUROPE NOW ARMED CAMP, NEEDING BUT SPARK TO START GENERAL CONFLAGRATION

ENGLISH ARE RESIGNED TO WAR IF IT MUST COME

Facing the most perilous epoch in their history since they shivered before the specter of a Napoleonic invasion, the English people are the calmest nation in Europe. Yesterday they felt the decision whether Great Britain was to be drawn into a general European war was hanging in the balance, today they believe it is a probability rather than a possibility.

There is no mistaking the fact that with the exception of a minority of peace advocates whose voice hardly is heard and seems to carry little weight, the nation's mind is reconciled to war. There has been no mawkish patriotism, but there is apparent among all classes a sober and grim determination, if the government declares that the nation's interests and obligations require her to take up arms side by side with Russia and France, to see the business through to the bitter end.

WAR SPIRIT HAS SWEEPED OVER THE WHOLE COUNTRY

The belief of the average man is that the existence of the whole of Europe as an armed camp, nervous and jealous, could have but one culmination and if the hour for a general settlement has struck there will be no flinching.

The change that has swept over the temper of the country since the people were aroused up in prize fights, the Goodwood races, the Cowes regatta, vacations on the continent, tonight they are asking only, "Can the British fleet play its part in protecting the island from isolation, which means, in the first instance, can it destroy the German emperor's navy?"

They are concerned also as to whether the food supplies can be maintained and to what extent private fortunes would be impaired by the financial upheaval of the war.

ALL NEWSPAPERS HEED REQUEST OF GOVERNMENT

The request of the war office that the English newspapers refrain from publishing army and navy movements has met with a patriotic response. The London evening papers publish news concerning almost all the armies of Europe, except that of Great Britain, and regarding the whereabouts of the British fleet and the preparation of the British Army they say nothing. There is a popular belief that the fleet is in the neighborhood of Flushing, in the North Sea, but the truth is known only to the members of the government.

Dover and Sheerness are virtually on a war basis and protective bands are ready to be drawn around at a moment's notice. These and other har-

WAR BULLETINS

VIENNA, Aug. 1.—(Saturday).—The official Gazette announces that Emperor Francis Joseph has ordered a general mobilization of the army and navy, and has called the Landsturm to the colors, owing to the mobilization ordered by Russia.

The Gazette adds that the action taken by the emperor has, as always, no aggressive tendency, and is solely for the nature of a precautionary measure for the indispensable protection of the monarchy.

PARIS, Aug. 1.—(Saturday).—The Matin makes much of the dispatch from Rome relating to Germany's alleged demand on Russia and France.

The Giornale d'Italia published two dispatches circulated by an Italian news agency that Germany has given France 12 hours in which to declare her neutrality and that a similar ultimatum has been sent to Russia, setting the same at a 12-hour period.

The ultimatums expire at noon today.

LONDON, Aug. 1.—(Saturday).—The Daily Telegraph understands that the German ambassador yesterday made a declaration to the French government, which is interpreted as an announcement of his early departure from the French capital.

COPENHAGEN, July 31.—All of the editors of the Danish papers at Hadersleben, airport of Prussia, in Schleswig, have been arrested by the German authorities and imprisoned in the fort. The Danish-German frontier is barred by German troops.

have been mined. The boats and Ostend steamers are likely to be transferred to Folkestone from Dover.

The war council of the British cabinet is composed of Mr. Asquith, the prime minister; Sir Edward Grey, secretary of state for foreign affairs; Viscount Haldane, lord high chancellor; and Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty. They are the same ministers who directed the joint diplomatic and military policy of the country during the Belder crisis. They remained in conference on the military matters after the last two cabinet meetings.

ULSTER FORGETS HOME RULE: READY TO FIGHT

Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster Unionist leader, announced today that a majority of the Ulster voters were ready for home rule, and that many of them would accept any service in which they could be useful.

While the London stock exchange is closed for the first time in its history, and the exchanges in England and Scotland shut their doors on learning of London's action, there has been no financial panic.

The general feeling among financiers is that London has weathered a remarkable storm with great credit. The bank rate was doubled from 4 to 8 per cent, but during the summer war it touched 10 and stayed there six weeks. Short loans today commanded 10 and 10 1/2 per cent interest.

GREAT ANXIETY FELT IN FINANCIAL CIRCLES

While nothing occurred like a run on the banks, there were symptoms which caused anxiety to everybody. Banks doing any ordinary commercial business refused demands to pay checks with gold, and paid partly in gold and partly in Bank of England notes.

Long lines of persons had assembled at the Bank of England, where it opened, to get gold for notes, and many were turned away at closing time. It was expected that the banking act would be suspended. This would mean that the Bank of England would not be compelled to redeem its notes with gold, but Premier Asquith and Chancellor David Lloyd-George, with the governor of the Bank of England and representatives of other banks, held a conference tonight and decided that the suspension of the act was not necessary at the present time.

AERONAUTS WATCHING PART AIRCRAFT WILL PLAY IN GREAT WAR

NEW YORK, July 31.—Members of the Aero Club of America are watching with keen interest for news of the work of the aviation corps in the war between Austria and Serbia. They expect that the general practical value of air craft in time of war will be shown as never before. Aeroplanes were used by the Italian army in Tripoli, by the French in Morocco, and by the different armies in the recent Balkan wars, but never to the extent that is likely to result during the present crisis.

Austria, with her six dirigibles and more than 100 aeroplanes, has a big advantage over her opponent. Her pilots are among the best in the world. Serbia is practically unknown in aviation records. The little power has no machines and one dirigible is privately owned there.

Much of the Austrian aviation equipment is said to be patterned after that used by France and Germany. The Hotchkiss rapid fire gun is installed on many of the machines.

A conservative estimate made by a member of the Aero Club of the number of aero craft that would be called into use in the event of a general European war is 1,200. More than 400 are on the reserve list and in private hands, and the rest are in the hands of the governments.

Captain Thomas S. Baldwin, the veteran aviator, who recently returned from a tour of the principal aeronautic centers of Europe, said today that the German and Austrian aerial forces were the best in Europe.

"They have developed the water cooled motor system to perfection," he said, "while the French have given most attraction to the air cooled engine. The result is shown in recent world records for aviation, for duration, distance and altitude, including the long sought flight lasting 24 hours without stop."

The German and Austrian machines climb high and fast, go far and land well, all advantages sought by military aviators. Their qualities give confidence to the pilots, so it is not surprising to see them carrying off the principal world's record, leaving out speed. These high-speed machines do not land well on rough ground. Some of them come down at such speed that they run a mile before they can stop.

HEN ROOST SELLS FOR $378

From the New York Sun. At an auction sale held near Rotham, Eng., recently, the collection of the late rector was dispersed. Some of the pieces had curious histories. One day when visiting a friend the rector came upon an old cupboard standing in the farmyard, where it had been used for some years as a hen roost. He bought it for $25, had it cleaned and scraped, and found himself possessed of a fifteenth century livery cupboard. This was bought by Earl Fitzwilliam for $378.

CARRANZA MAY REFUSE TO MEET CARBAJAL AGENTS

Federal Envoys Get Cool Reception in Tampico at Hands of Rebels

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, July 31.—Constitutionalist leaders at Tampico predict there will be no peace conference between the delegates of General Carranza and Provisional President Carballal at Saltillo, where the Carballal delegates should arrive tomorrow. From Colonel Gallardo, General Villa's personal representative at Tampico, and Colonel Navarette, military chief at Tampico, it has been learned that the Constitutionalist in that region had not expected Carranza would even receive Gen. Lauro Villar and David Gutierrez Altamir, Carballal's representatives, and that if he does the Constitutionalist will not agree to any terms made by President Carballal. They insisted that the revolution must be settled by fighting and not by peace.

The information was obtained by Mexican newspaper men who accompanied the delegates to Tampico but who were forced to return here, the Constitutionalist refusing to permit them to land.

BARGE RUBBERNECK WAGON

From Youth's Companion. The "rubber neck" motor cars that ply up and down the streets of so many American cities have a monster relative in the great barge that carries sightseeing visitors through the Panama canal.

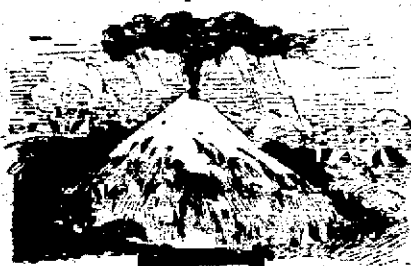

The vessel was originally a steel dump barge, built for the use of the canal excavators in 1909. It is 151 feet long, 32 feet wide, and draws between 10 and 11 feet of water. Sloping seats like those in a grandstand have been built and then covered with a roof on which other passengers may sit or stand. The barge will carry two or three hundred persons, and it is propelled through the canal by the tug.

Blood Risings Not Sign of Health

It's not Covered by Sluggish and Impure Blood

Look Out for Vascular Effects

When there are swellings, gathenings or risings of the skin it is a sure sign that the blood needs help. It needs the cleansing that can be had only by the famous blood purifier S. S. S. Any eruption of the skin shows the blood is retaining impurities, and either continue to circulate and impoverish the blood or be deposited here and there in the form of abscesses or surface eruptions and eruptions.

A host of people use S. S. S. every spring and summer to withstand those habits that leave the system tired out. Get a bottle of S. S. S. today of any druggist. Give your blood a good bath. It will cause your liver to convert impurities, your lungs to burn them, your kidneys to excrete them and your skin to carry them off thus leaving your entire system fresh and clean by itself, and again be conscious of somewhat health. Write to The S. S. S. Co., 106 Swift Bldg. St. Louis, Mo., for their great book on skin afflictions "What the Mirror Tells."

KEEP YOUR LIVER ACTIVE DURING THE SUMMER MONTHS—FOLEY'S CATHARTIC TABLETS FOR SLUGGISH LIVER AND CONSTIPATION.

It does not hurt at all how quickly Foley's Cathartic Tablets open your liver and overcome constipation. New Oldham, Wimberley, Texas, says: "Foley's Cathartic Tablets are the best laxative I ever used. They take the place of calomel, and produce a healthy, refreshing, and cleansing action. A comfort to stout persons, as they relieve that full, bloated feeling." Robinson Drug Co.

THE CHARM OF MOTHERHOOD

Enhanced By Perfect Physical Health

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman receives a medical treatment at such a time, but many approach the experience with a very unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a natural tonic and purgative of the blood.

In many cases, a woman's health is so weak that she cannot take a normal course of treatment. Your doctor will advise you to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a natural tonic and purgative of the blood.

RAILROAD AND COAL CO. HEADS INDICTED

W. C. Brown, Former President of New York Central, Is Mentioned

CHICAGO, July 31.—Charges that the New York Central railroad and its subsidiaries have given rebates to the O'Gara Coal company by means of various subterfuges, that the railroads had granted extension to credit to the coal company, thus violating the Elkins laws, and that advances and loans amounting to $500,000 had been advanced to the coal company, were made today in three blanket indictments returned in the federal court here.

W. C. Brown, former president of the New York Central, John Carstenson and Richard M. Huddleston, respectively first vice president and auditor of the New York Central; Thomas J. O'Gara and William A. Brewster, president and secretary of the coal company, and the three roads, the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis and the Chicago, Indiana and Southern, were named in the indictments.

Prosecution Begins at Once. Prosecution of the defendants will be begun at once, according to James A. Wilkerson, district attorney. Heavy fines and long penitentiary terms can be imposed if the government obtains convictions, he said.

If convicted on all counts, the maximum fines that can be imposed against Brown, Carstenson, Huddleston and the railroads would be $2,500,000. The minimum fine would be $112,000. The maximum fine against O'Gara, Brewster and the coal company, if convicted, would be $224,000. The maximum penalty for conspiracy is two years and sentence of two years could be imposed against all defendants on each of 112 counts, if a conviction was obtained.

Carstenson and the three roads and O'Gara were indicted in 1912. Brown, who is 61 years old, retired from the presidency of the New York Central last November. He is now living in Iowa.

UNDERWOOD TARIFF PRODUCES LESS THAN THE PAYNE MEASURE

WASHINGTON, July 31.—During the first nine months of its operation, the Underwood tariff law, according to the department of commerce figures announced tonight, yielded somewhat less revenue than the Payne law, slightly more than the Dingley law, and one and one-half times as much as the McKinley and Wilson laws.

The Underwood tariff is producing an average of $23,000,000 a month. The Payne tariff produced an average of $25,750,000 a month, and the Dingley tariff $21,750,000, the Wilson tariff $14,000,000 and the McKinley tariff $14,500,000.

Average ad valorem rates of duty under the Underwood tariff are the lowest in 25 years, the commerce department statement said. They are 36 per cent, based on dutiable imports, and 14 per cent, based on total imports. Under the Payne law they were 45.5 per cent and 20 per cent, respectively; the Dingley law, 45.8 per cent and 21.5 per cent; the Wilson law, 42.8 and 21.5 per cent, and the McKinley law, 41.1 and 21.1 per cent.

The police say that Hicks met the two men down town, and that they took him to the park and took the money and ran away from him. The watch, which was pawned for $5, has been recovered by the Pueblo police. The police say that Long has confessed.

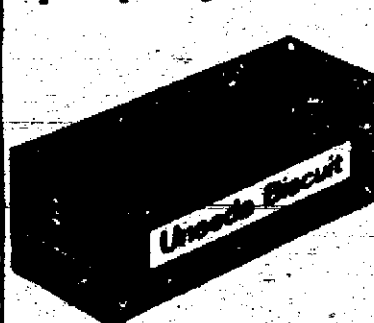

A motion for a new trial in the case of Maud Benson against the Colorado Springs and Interurban Railway company was argued yesterday in the district court before Judge John E. Lister and taken under advisement. The suit was one for damages for alleged personal injuries, and a jury in the district court recently returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff. Attorneys for the street car company filed a motion for a new trial, alleging some 40 grounds for granting it.

Early Scenes in Colorado to Be Depicted in Celebrating State's 38th Anniversary

With Pikes Peak looming in the background Monument Valley park will make an effective stage setting for one of the most attractive and unique events of the year today when more than 2,000 children from the four playgrounds of the city will unite in presenting a grand historical pageant of the early history of Colorado in celebration of its thirty-eighth birthday. Colorado was admitted into the union in 1876 as the thirty-eighth state.

The children have been rehearsing for several weeks under the direction of Supervisor Arthur Murray, Jr. and his assistants, and are prepared to give an interesting entertainment of the state's historical characters of the state will appear. General Palmer and his staff in the case of small children will hold the center of the stage with Zebulon Pike under the shadow of his mountain once more. President Grant and many others will revisit Colorado Springs.

Games Begin at 10 o'clock
All the kiddies and grown-ups, tourists and residents of the Pikes Peak region are invited to attend and make an all day affair of it. In the morning there will be ball games beginning at 10 o'clock. At noon there will be a picnic lunch. Then at 2 o'clock the big event of the day will take place.

ELBERT AND LINCOLN MAY HAVE AGRICULTURIST SOON

Two Counties Meet With Government
Officials to Secure Expert; Uncle Sam Will Pay Half of Cost

Elbert and Lincoln counties will divide the services of a county agriculturist between them if their respective organizations agree to subscribe the extra sum of money needed to pay the salary of the official, as the result of a meeting with the representative of the agricultural department of Washington, D. C., in Denver yesterday. W. H. Lauck, El Paso county agriculturist, and F. H. Faus, commission agent for the Rock Island, also attended the conference and spoke on the advantages connected with the position. Lauck gave an outline of his work, while the representatives of the Rock Island told of the need for such an official.

The government will not pass any more appropriations until January 1, but at that time probably will set aside a sum of money for a county agriculturist for the two counties. The government pays one-half the salary of the official and the county the other half. The official is appointed by the government with the agreement of the county commissioners.

Representatives from Kit Carson county also attended the meeting, but will take no immediate action in the matter of obtaining a county agriculturist.

SPRINGS MAN VICTIM OF GRAND JUNCTION MURDER

Gilbert H. Peterson Shot Down Without Warning; Motive for Crime
Not Known

Gilbert H. Peterson, formerly a resident of Colorado Springs was murdered in Grand Junction Thursday night. The identity of the slayer and motive for the murder are unknown and the police have no clues on which to work. While a resident of this city Peterson was employed as a machinist at the Portland mill, residing at 214 Mill street. His wife was Myrtle Buchanan, also of Colorado Springs. He removed to Grand Junction last year.

Peterson was shot down from behind, according to dispatches received here, four bullets being fired into his back. The murder was committed in the Italian section of the city and was not discovered until some time later, when a man stumbled over the body.

'WHAT IS A BARBECUE' TOO MUCH FOR HIM; WON'T TELL

Mark Rafferty in Charge of Camina
Events, Declines to Tell Plans for Outdoor Feast

"What is a barbecue?" This question was put to Mark Rafferty yesterday, and if there is any one in Colorado who should be able to give a real, pat definition Rafferty is that man.

"A barbecue," said Rafferty, "is a barbecue."

"But what do you serve—that is your menu?" the interviewer. To which Rafferty volunteered the information that the people would find out next Thursday, August 6—perhaps sooner; and then, without further ado, he extended a cordial invitation to each and every person, stranger or resident, to come to Cheyenne canon on that date, some time between the hours of 1 and 7 p. m., and find out what is a barbecue.

There had been rumors that Rafferty, ably assisted by 100 members of the Chamber of Commerce, disguised as cooks and waiters, had it in mind to put on something that would not be a real barbecue something so novel that it would require a new name all of its own—but to all inquiries the chief barbecue assumes a puzzled expression and observes, "We shall see what we shall see, and we shall eat what we shall eat."

CITY SUEF TELEGRAPH CO.

FOR POLE AND WIRE TAX

Postal Defendant in Action in County

Court; Questions City's Right to Make Present Levy

The suit of the City of Colorado Springs vs. the Postal Telegraph and Cable company, a contest arising out of the levying by the city of a pole and wire inspection tax, was called in the county court yesterday, and occupied the session of the court for the entire day. The trial will be completed this morning.

The city, by an ordinance has required that all corporations using poles and wires in Colorado Springs pay a pole and wire inspection tax. This ordinance applies to the Colorado Springs Light and Power company, the Colorado Springs and Interurban Railway company, the Mountain States Telephone company, the Western Union Telegraph company and the Postal Telegraph and Cable company. The first four corporations named have paid their tax, but the Postal company is contesting the right of the city to levy it. The company admits the general right of the city to levy some such tax, but claims that the city has no right to impose one so great as the one now in force.

I could not possibly have lived but a few hours longer, but thanks to this remedy, I am now well and strong." For sale by all dealers.

BANKS AND OFFICES NOT OPEN TODAY

Scouts on 1st Lap to Colorado Springs

Special to The Gazette
GLENN WOOD SPRING, July 31—The Gazette-Telegraph pioneer car reached here at 7 o'clock this evening, after a long day's run, and was given an enthusiastic reception by the good roads boosters of the town. The scouts left a little ranch house about 40 miles below Meeker early this morning and had a good trip to Glenwood Springs. The people en route are all strong for the good roads and have promised the best of receptions to the tourists next month.

Last night the residents of Myton turned out to meet the pioneers and gave them a fish dinner, and at noon today the Vernal good roads boosters gave the hungry scouts a lunch. Everywhere the people are making arrangements to welcome the tourists, the highway is logged and marked and the road ready for the great run next month. The pioneers expect to reach Buena Vista tomorrow night and Sunday afternoon or evening, at the latest, will see them back in Colorado Springs.

Telephone and Light Companies Work All Night to Open Lines

Quick work on the part of telephone and electric company linemen, who braved the rain all night to keep a close watch of all danger spots, probably saved both companies several thousand dollars in the storm of early yesterday morning. The telephone company reported yesterday that from 2,000 to 2,500 telephones were out of commission because of lightning striking the wires and burning out the carbons in the phone boxes in the subscribers' homes. The damage to the telephone system extended all over the region, showing the wide distribution of the electrical flashes. Last night the company reported that all but 1000 had been put in commission again. It was one of the biggest jobs of the character ever undertaken by the local office.

Electricians of the Colorado Springs Light, Heat & Power company stood by the switchboards for hours during the severest part of the storm. The current was switched off in order to prevent the dynamo from being affected and the lightning would strike a wire, suzle into the plant to the board where the men were working. The lightning struck the home of Arthur Fitzpatrick 909 South Sierra Madre street, tore a bed in which he was sleeping and knocked both Fitzpatrick and his wife unconscious. They recovered in a short time. The flash set fire to the house but the rain quenched the flames before any damage had been done. The chimney of the Greenwood residence at 1728 North Cascade avenue also was struck.

The rain during the three hours of the storm totaled 2.93 inches, according to the Colorado college weather bureau report yesterday. The county roads were not badly damaged, the Denver road not being injured to any extent.

North and South Cheyenne canons were closed to traffic yesterday in order to clear away the dirt slides and repair the roads. They will be reopened again this morning.

All creeks were running high yesterday, especially those at the canons. Considerable damage was done at Zoo park, where the creek made a new channel under the grandstand at the baseball park. Water was running five feet deep there last night.

CITROLAX!

It's a laxative, of course—name tells you that. And the nicest hot weather drink you ever tasted. Flashes thoroughly and pleasantly, too. F. C. Crisler, Syracuse, N. Y. says: "Have used Citrolax for 15 years but this Citrolax has got everything else beat a mile." You will agree with him. Specially nice for children and delicate persons. Sweetens a sour stomach, works quickly and stops headache. Robinson Drug Co. Adv.

ON THE CORNER

MISS ELEANOR HABER.

Week gives Miss Eleanor Haber, leading woman at the Burns, a splendid opportunity for her unusual abilities as a comedienne, and particularly as the part yet lovable stenographer in "Noblesse Oblige" does Miss Haber offer some most amusing moments. In the preparation of "Confusion" the director advertised for a small dog to be used in the play. The result was a wide collection of canines, big, little, but all vociferous. There were bull dogs, Airdales, "houn" dogs, hunting dogs and a motley group of mixed genealogies and antecedents. Their various owners were all anxious for them to "play in the show."

"THE LONG FEUD"

At the Embassy today the two-reel Broncho feature, "The Long Feud," will be shown. It's a story of the Kentucky hills, and the beautiful scenery of that section of the country is shown.

A feud has existed between the Yancey and Harper families for years. Harper fails to induce his son, Frank, to carry on the fight. Louisa, Yancey's daughter, takes the blood oath. However, Frank goes to the city and becomes a successful lawyer. Returning home, he falls in love with Louisa. Old man Yancey reminds his daughter of her oath, but her love for Frank prevents her from carrying it out. Yancey then determines to shoot Frank himself. Louisa starts to warn him, but is engulfed in quicksand. Frank is rescuing her, when Yancey shoots him in the hand. When the old man discovers that Frank is rescuing his own daughter, he aids young Harper and in the end gives his blessing to the pair.

In addition to this, two exciting, funny dramas will be shown. "From Wash. to Washington," a Thompson-Komic, "Leave It to Smiles," the story of a stranded theatrical company, and their adventures, or rather misadventures, bring forth many a hearty laugh.

BARNUM & BAY'S CIRCUS

No institution in the world gives so much wholesome pleasure and instructive amusement for the little folks as the circus. Keeping this idea in mind, the Barnum & Bay's Circus, which visits Colorado Springs Monday, has arranged many features which will appeal to the children and, at the same time, educate them. Among the thousand and one wonderful sights are scores upon scores of those which are really of benefit to the little folks. Special acts and features are arranged for the purpose of delighting children of all ages, and the smaller children will be sure to find some curious and interesting thing which the big boys to amply repay the parents for the visit. Children's numbers are arranged on the program, especially for this object, and embrace sights and feats easily comprehended and understood by their youthful minds. Little elephants, tiny ponies, baby monkeys and other creatures are taught to execute tricks similar to those read about in story books, and for the three hours they may possibly remain in the show the children are really reveling in a veritable fairy-land of wonders. Such attractions as the two menageries afford them an excellent idea of the beasts, birds and reptiles living in the world.

Buried Treasure

Aladdin's lamp was the fabled key to untold treasure buried underground.

Its owner, by a single rub, could summon genii, and have access to the hidden wealth of kings.

You, too, have buried treasure at your command, and Electricity, more powerful than mythical genii, to do your bidding.

Instead of rubbing a lamp, you take off your telephone receiver and immediately a wealth of treasure is at your service.

A tiny spark flashes over the wires overhead and underground and carries the sound of your voice wherever you wish.

Over ten and a half million dollars lie buried under the streets of this mountain region in cables, wires and conduits, ready for your use every minute of the day and night.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 1, 1914.

A RAILROAD STRIKE THREATENED

A WIDESPREAD railroad strike is about the most serious industrial disturbance that can happen to the country. The American Railway Union strike of 1892, which began in the Pullman shops at Chicago and spread over almost the entire nation, inflicted losses from which neither the country nor the principals involved recovered for many years. Thousands of men were thrown out of employment, not merely during the period of the strike, but for months and in some cases years afterward, under the operations of the black-list. Undoubtedly that strike was one of the most important causes of the hard times which prevailed until 1897.

Now it appears that the long continued efforts to settle the difficulties between the western railways and the firemen and engineers have ended in total failure. The railroads have refused to accept the plan of settlement proposed by the Federal mediators and a strike has been called for August 7. If it actually occurs it means that 55,000 firemen and engineers on ninety-eight railroads west of Chicago will quit work.

In such a case as this it is always hard to form an impartial opinion as to the merits of the controversy. Whether or not the demands of the men for higher wages and easier conditions of employment are wholly justified is, after all, of less interest to the public than the possible consequences of a strike. If the men quit work the entire railroad system of the West will be tied up that much is certain. Nor are conditions likely to improve until a definite settlement is effected which will put the same men back to work, for engineers and firemen cannot be replaced as easily as section hands and other unskilled laborers. The railroads will doubtless do their best to maintain service, but they are not likely to succeed very well.

In such affairs the problem is always the same. It is the public, not the principals to the controversy, that suffers most. The commerce of the entire country will be seriously disturbed just at a time when the marketing of a bumper crop necessitates the use of every available transportation facility. Countless thousands of individual business concerns, which are in no way interested in the points at issue between the railways and their employees, will sustain heavy losses and all because our civilization has not been able to devise a more intelligent way of settling labor disputes than the strike.

A STRAIGHT TICKET

IN THE work accomplished at the adjourned session of the county assembly yesterday the Progressives have made good their promise to place a straight party ticket in the field and fight the campaign to a finish on party issues, rather than yield to the blandishments of the Republican fusionists. Almost since the election of 1912 the leaders of the older party have persisted in their efforts to effect a union. As recently as last week the Republican state committee published broadcast an invitation to Progressives to return to the fold with a definite promise of places on the Republican ticket. This last despairing effort has failed as completely as the others, and nowhere in the state have the real Progressives yielded to these entreaties.

The Progressive organization in El Paso County is in better condition now than ever before. Its forces are united in support of the definite principles for which the party stands, and are prepared to conduct a clean-cut, aggressive campaign. The assembly has designated a list of candidates, but the actual selection will be made in the primaries, and with the excellent material available there is no doubt that every place on the ticket will be filled by a candidate worthy of public support.

THE AUSTRIAN PEOPLE

ALTHOUGH the German population of Austria is a small minority it has always been the ruling class. But somehow the Austrian Germans have never shown the capacity in the business of government characteristic of their northern neighbors, the subjects of Kaiser Wilhelm. The Americana Encyclopedia explains the difference:

The Germans of Vienna, one must remember, are very different from the Germans of Berlin. Of all the sections of the Teutonic race they appear to have the least robustness of intellect or character and the laxest grip on practical affairs. Indolent, hypocritical, and self-satisfied, they are the enervated editions of their northern kinsmen. From whatever cause, some paralysis of intellect and inefficiency seems to have eaten its way into their energies. Against the cultured fecklessness the Czechs oppose the elemental force of racial ambition, the driving power of a people that has the consciousness of a great destiny before it and feels itself on the top of the rising wave.

The Germans protest that they have educated themselves beyond the point where race is everything and cannot at this time of day be expected to return to first principles. It is, of course, tenable that the variety of parties into which the Germans are split up argues an advanced and broad political intelligence. At the same time it makes a poor barrier against the impact of a race that subordinates everything to single practical ends, and against the Germans are the Czechs, a great part of their old ascendancy passed away, they must be ready to drop theorizing, take up the issue that has been forced upon them, and meet their antagonists with weapons not necessarily of their own choosing.

In other words, they need simplifying if they are to combat the Czechs successfully. As it is, the Czechs for the last thirty years have been slowly driving them to the wall. City after city has fallen into their hands, Prague and Pilsen, that only a quarter of a century ago were German in tongue and sentiment, are now Slavonized down to their very street names. And in politics and industry, as well as music and literature and the lighter arts, the past hundred years have seen the Czech advance in a quite wonderful fashion. They have long ceased to fear the Germans and with the disappearance of fear comes naturally the claim to equality.

This may explain a number of interesting things in Austro-Hungarian history, such as the nation's inglorious military record and its inability to steer a straight course without reliance on the German empire. There was a time when Austria dominated the entire group of German nations, but a half-century ago it was compelled to yield precedence to Prussia. It is not at all improbable that one of the results of this war will be the virtual absorption of Austria into the Kaiser's realm.

CONGRESS BACKS AVIATION CORPS.

From the Christian Science Monitor.

It needed evidence, gathered by the United States army during its long encampment along the Mexican frontier and during the occupation of Vera Cruz, to move congress to something like adequate provision for the aviation corps. At least, that is the likeliest explanation of a change of attitude that is encouraging officials in the army and informed citizens generally, who have felt more or less chagrin that more was not being done to bring the military force of the country abreast those of Europe. So long as there is an army, and even if it be confined to defensive warfare as Congressmen Bartholdt of Missouri proposes in his new constitutional amendment, it should be up-to-date in its equipment. This is a position that is confirmed "pacifist" can take if he happens to be an opportunist and admits at all the claims of nationalism. It is in harmony with the contention of champions of an adequate navy, who nevertheless are working for concerted disarmament.

Having at its disposal all the experience gained by administrators of war departments of other countries in promoting aviation as a form of military service and able to utilize a stabilizer invented by an American, the war department is in a position now to build up rather quickly a corps that in efficiency and equipment will be creditable to the republic and attract to it some of the best men of the army.

SWATTING AN IDYLIC IDOL

From the Kansas City Journal.

These be the days of official iconoclasm. Our oldest and most cherished institutions are no longer safe from rude hands in high places. Health departments are particularly iconoclastic. Not so long ago they made war upon the common communion cup. And now—shades of vanished boyhood!—the health authorities of the city of New York have swatted the old oaken bucket. According to these wise men, the ancient receptacle that dangles at the end of the slimy 40-foot rope may be all right in song and story, but it's dangerous to daily use. The germs of typhoid and other dangerous diseases lurk upon its mossy brim. Foul bacteria deposit themselves in its crystal depths. Death does a water dance in the rising bubbles and who is hereafter deceived by the pleasant seeming of its cooling draughts is a fool bent upon his own destruction.

All this comes to light in the course of a warning to midsummer vacationers. According to figures compiled by the authorities in question, the cities have pretty well succeeded in banishing typhoid, except in the summer when the outdoors bring it back from insubstantial rural boarding houses and the wayside wells. Thus has the most idyllic of our idols fallen; another god of sentiment has gone smash. Hereafter, the well informed will confine their dalliance with the old oaken bucket to vocal practice upon moonlit waters or an evening song about the phonograph. Water from the old family well still has its honored place in romance, but in the realms of science it is only a particularly effective carrier for typhoid and cholera. Idea—change and the gods of yesterday are gone with its roses. The old oaken bucket died hard, but as an asset to otherwise unattractive summer boarding houses, it is dead.

TEACHING AMERICAN OPERA SINGERS AT HOME.

From the Christian Science Monitor.

Milton Aborn, impresario of the Century Opera company of New York, is credited with the intention of opening a school in that city, for the training of singers in opera, thereby putting an end to what appears to be the present necrosis of sending American singers abroad, "so that they may have a chance to be heard by opera managers at home." The whole story is told in the preceding quotation. For a long time there has been in the United States very general and pathetic disapproval of a custom and system which makes necessary, apparently, that a young woman ambitious of employment in opera, and of rising in the profession, shall undergo the instruction she has received at home in instruction abroad.

No question of the ability of French, German, Italian or other European instructors to teach is involved here. The point at issue is it is looked upon by both musical and nonmusical people in the United States as to do equally with the practical and the artistic phase of the matter. And there is a moral phase also. In all other forms of instruction, the schools of the United States are prompt in the matter of equipping themselves with the best talent obtainable anywhere. Instead of sending students abroad, such lack as may be felt in the teaching force at home is supplied from the teaching ranks of Europe. The best the world has to offer in all branches of learning, with the possible lone exception of music, is drafted by the schools, colleges and universities of the United States. It has been many years since young men in any number were sent out of this country with the hope that they could rise to the expectation that they would learn more about history, mathematics or physics abroad than they could or would learn at home.

It seems to be a traditional requirement rather than an actual necessity that girls shall be sent abroad in order to complete their musical education. Provided that instructors of the same grade are employed in teaching, plainly there is no good reason why an American girl should learn more of music in Paris, Berlin or Rome than in New York, Boston or Chicago. On the other hand all things being equal, there is a good reason why an American girl should not be compelled to pursue her studies in a strange land, among strange people that might be just as well or better pursued in her own country. This applies, so far as the student is concerned, to girls in all countries. It does not seem an essential in these times that people shall travel the world over in search of knowledge of any kind. It certainly does not appear essential that girls shall be sent abroad before they can obtain a hearing from American opera managers. This requirement deters many young women from entering opera, acts as a positive bar to many others and forms an objection among parents and guardians to higher musical training which must have an effect anything but beneficial to American music schools.

American opera managers, we should think, might well try the experiment of engaging American-trained singers, or, if they believe that American training is not sufficiently advanced, they might unite in founding a school for opera singers in this country that would rank with the best schools of Europe. Perhaps Mr. Aborn's move will lead to this. Let us hope that it may.

MORALS BY EVOLUTION

From the Cleveland Leader.

What seems to be a new point of view is brought forward by an insurance company in refusing to pay a policy of $5,000 written on the life of a married man who was shot to death by his "affinity."

The contention of the company is that this man knew, or should have known, he had placed his life in danger and that in withholding knowledge of the fact he committed a fraud which invalidated the insurance contract. He had answered in the negative the question put to him by the company, "Are you engaged in any hazardous undertaking?"

For years there has been waged in this country a most determined war upon drinking and gambling. But very little real headway was made against these evils until employees began to demand that they be shunned by the men in their service and pay. Known gamblers are no longer tolerated in work which gives access to money for the means to get-drinking man is no longer wanted in business and the industries. Daily the competition of modern life is making sobriety and freedom from the gaming mania more essential in the earning of a living.

Is it not possible that something of the same nature is about to take place in respect to the sex immoralities of men? Is it not conceivable that the example set by this insurance company will be followed by others and a start thus be made in providing severe penalties for violation of the moral code affecting the relations between men and women, which, even though they may be outside the law, are automatic and cannot be evaded?

There is much wisdom and sound philosophy in the homely old saying, "Don't worry, it will all come out in the wash."

THE COST OF PEACE INSURANCE

From the Chicago Herald.

Ever since the recent pronouncement of Admiral Sir Percy Scott, the British naval authority, that the dreadnaught has seen its day and that the effective offensive and defensive war craft of the future will be the aeroplane and the submarine there has been renewed activity among those who would discourage naval expenditures.

It is quite possible, of course, that Sir Percy is mistaken and that the battleship has many years of usefulness. But assuming that he may be right, does that furnish a conclusive reason for weakening our naval armament?

If we should at once devote our energies entirely to submarine and airship construction and it should happen that these instruments were not entirely effective, and that dreadnaughts still have power to destroy coast cities, we should pay dearly for our neglect of the big ships, in case of war with a strong naval power.

While it is a fact that we must spend a good deal of money to keep up with the procession in naval construction isn't it true that this expenditure is in the nature of an insurance premium and insurance at a low rate considering the enormous loss we may sustain?

And can we afford to be the nation first to make the experiment of discarding battleships, with our long line of coast and our rich coast cities?

In short, isn't it the wisest plan for us to maintain a reasonable program of battleship construction, and at the same time to pay greater attention to submarines and air craft so that we may not be caught napping in any department? Shouldn't we do this, just as the wise property owner uses steel and "fireproof" construction but keeps his property insured against fire just the same?

Will Power and Want Power

BY RUTH CAMERON

If you should ask a number of people if they thought they had strength of will, I think nine out of ten would answer in the affirmative.

And I doubt if one out of ten would have a real right to that. That is, if you gave these words their best sense. Strength of will, in its best sense, means a high degree of determination and self-command, united with a fair degree of reason.

This is the kind of strength of will which it is good to have. It is because these words commonly have this sense that we have come to think of the possession of a strong will as something to be proud of. But this is not the kind of a strong will which the average person who flatters himself on possessing this distinction really has.

"Yes I have a very strong will," I heard a young man say, the other day with a facial expression which did not by any means imply that he hated himself.

He had been telling how he refused to do a certain thing which he had no particular reason for not doing and which would have been greatly to his future advantage. He told how all his friends urged him to do it and how he had held out against them. One of those feminine scroophants who are always ready to supply the draughts of flattery on which this type of man drink themselves into the stupor of complete self-satisfaction, presently offered the tribute which he expected, and he echoed it fervently. "Yes, I have a very strong will."

When like this shames the fine term will power by applying it to himself. If he had said, "Yes, I'm as stubborn as a mule," he would have come far nearer the truth. And he is but one of many people who think they have will power when all they really have is won't power.

Strength of desire is also confused with strength of will. To adapt the familiar epigram, "A great many people confuse their backbones with their wishbones." The famous Bronte sisters had a brother who was supposed to be the star of the family. He had great talents and what at first seemed strong will power. But alas the star of the family turned out to be a swift falling meteor. "We finally realized," sighed Charlotte after Patrick Bronte had wasted all his fine talents and brought disgrace and sorrow on his family, "that strength of passion should not be confused with strength of will." So self-will is one of the commonest things in the world. A strong will, on the other hand, is a rare thing. It is the power to resist the temptations of the moment when you have only the valuable bit of time,

GUATEMALA

Guatemala is not as important in the newspapers as Newport or the Federal league. Yet, if Guatemala were to turn entirely over, as it has vainly attempted to do several times during its volcanic and earthquake career, coffee would rise largely in price and thousands of Italians would have to buy street organs for want of bananas to sell.

For this latter reason we should regard Guatemala as a blessing and treat it with consideration.

At one time Guatemala also supplied most of the red coloring matter for the world. It being infected with a small red bug called cochineal which when boiled and used as a dye made beautiful red cloth. However, science has substituted chemical dyes and the cochineal bug now wanders unharmed through Guatemala and can only end its life by falling into the coffee.

Guatemala is situated in the center of South American hostilities and has been jostling Nicaragua, Honduras and Salvador for elbow room for almost a century. It is as large as the state of New York and contains over 2,000,000 people, a few of whom can read. Guatemala has no divorce question, this being avoided by cutting out marriage to a very great extent.

Most Guatemalans are Indians, many of whom work on the large German plantations and are perfectly free except that they cannot leave until they pay their debts and they cannot pay their debts without leaving Guatemala. Guatemala has a beautiful constitution, modeled on our own, but the nation is like a young lady with a complicated automobile. It doesn't know how to work the thing. Guatemala has had almost as many presidents as Mexico and they have given as little satisfaction. It is the trouble maker of Central America, and more than once the United States has had to rush down there in a gunboat and talk things over while holding two or more warring republics firmly by the ear.

Guatemala is a hot, moist land, profusely decorated with volcanoes and 15,000-foot mountains in its middle and with swamps filled with compressed malaria along the seashore. It has the most beautiful birds in the world and also the most ornamental postage stamps. There was once a highly civilized Indian government in Guatemala with great buildings and a literature. The country is now slowly improving and may some day get back to where it was 500 years ago. (Copyrighted by George Mathew Adams)

MORGAN SAYS WAR SITUATION IS GRAVE

NEW YORK, July 31.—J. P. Morgan today issued a statement which said:

"Alarming as the news is from Europe, we are still hoping there will not be a general war. While the gravity of the present situation can hardly be exaggerated, there is still the opportunity for the sober second thought of the people of Europe to prevail over their first impulses.

"The situation of the American security market during the last few days has been a splendid illustration of the inherent soundness of financial conditions in this country. While we all earnestly hoped that the New York stock exchange might be kept open, the situation is fraught with so much uncertainty that it seemed necessary in the interest of the whole country to close the exchange.

"It is essentially a time for the owners of American securities to keep their heads. Bear in mind that the actual properties represented by American securities will not suffer greatly by a European war.

"It is hard to say that America will not be hurt by a general European war. The wholesale waste of capital involved in such a catastrophe would be infinitesimal compared with the losses to the countries immediately involved. "There is no doubt that the whole American people will cooperate to restore normal conditions throughout this country at the earliest possible moment."

SUBNORMAL TEMPERATURES IN NEW YORK FOR JULY

NEW YORK, July 31.—A bleak northeaster that brought autumnal weather yesterday was still in evidence today and the government forecaster predicted that July would end with a record far below normal temperatures.

The temperatures at 11 p. m., last night dropped to 59 degrees and as a consequence 40 persons applied to the municipal lodging house for shelter. The maximum temperature yesterday was 67 degrees at 3 p. m., of 35 degrees lower than July 20 last year.

Overcoats continued to be worn last night and straw hats appeared out of season.

IN THE EARLY DAYS

THIRTY YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 1, 1884.

Large quantities of lumber were being brought from H. D. Fisher & Co's mill at Manitou Park and shipped from Manitou to various places.

H. A. True left for St. Louis expecting to go to the City of Mexico from there.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

AUGUST 1, 1894.

Work was progressing rapidly on the new irrigation pipe line from the reservoir on Monument creek, about 15 miles north of town.

Professor Woodrow Wilson, before the summer school on the organization and powers of congress.

Considerable excitement was caused by the striking of rich ore at the Storm King mine at Balfour, a mining camp near Hartsel.

D. C. Dudley was elected a permanent member of the Deaf and Blind school. He had been a teacher in the institution for several years.

WARNING OF BRIGHT'S

The "Human Factor" informs us that last year 100,000 people died of Bright's disease in the United States, that the death rate from this disease is increasing rapidly, 72 per cent. in the last 20 years and 23 per cent. in the last 10. The greatest rate of increase noted was 106 per cent. in Richmond, the smallest, 16 per cent. in San Francisco. Some increases in percentages were: Boston, 22; Chicago, 47; Memphis, 50; Denver, 26.

"Human Factor" says that 60,000 of these 100,000 lives could have been prolonged several years, and many thousands could have been saved had the disease been discovered in its early stages.

The increase for a state was highest in New York, 152, and lowest in Montana, 52. This refers to the registration area. The states not in the registration area have no way of knowing what is happening to their people.

The kidneys are an exceedingly vulnerable organ. Severe illness of any kind is nearly certain to cause some Bright's disease. This is especially true of pneumonia, scarlet fever, diphtheria and rheumatism. In addition, overeating, overdrinking, and overworking put the kidneys under great strain.

Whatever the nature of the overload, the organ carries it as best it can. When the strain is too great and the kidney gives down under it there is no pain, no ache, no complaint of any character. Albumin and casts appear in the urine but a laboratory examination is required to show it. Swelling of the feet, puffiness under the eyes, short wind—these speak for the kidneys, but the disease has progressed far before they show themselves. The kidneys do not complain.

To warn their people in time one life insurance company will make an examination of the urine once a year for any person who has been insured with it three years. If the party insured is in one of the company's central points a physical examination also will be made.

This type of service was begun by another company a year or two ago. It is spreading. Other companies are adopting it. A life extension institute has been organized to make the same sort of service for any life insurance company or any organization desiring it. Its aim is not the object of this service. Its object is to discover organic diseases in their beginning stage.

The man who thus discovers that he has an organic disease in its early stage may be able to change his habits as to cure his disease. In the great majority of cases, he can prolong his life five years or more by changing to a thoroughly hygienic method of living. Medical service can promise much when the trouble is just unfolding.

The insurance companies feel that people past middle life are neglected. Health departments have not been much interested in the welfare of this group. The work inaugurated by the company for their policyholders will eventually be furnished by health departments to all the people.

X-RAY AND CANCER

D. A. B. writes: "What success has the medical profession had in treating cancer with the X-ray? Is it not a fact that the X-ray causes cancer and is positively dangerous for such use? Would the X-ray have any curative effect on stomach troubles, such as inflammation, gastritis, ulceration or a kinked bowel due to muscle displacement or pressure? How are physicians who make such claims and secure patients by reason of such, looked upon in the medical profession?"

REPLY.

1. Very good success with skin cancer, poor success with cancers situated deep in the body.
 2. Yes, X-ray causes cancer. If, by the last half of the sentence you mean is "dangerous when used to cure cancer," the answer is no. The worst that can be said is that in cancers unsuited for its use some people have used it instead of having the growth removed.

3. No.
 4. No reputable physician would claim to cure gastritis, ulceration of the stomach or kink of the bowel with X-ray.

J. B. E. writes: "Please give me the address of a firm from which I can get a good refrigerator."

REPLY.
 We find it difficult to answer this question. The manufacturers' catalogs give space to appearance, manner, direction of air currents, and dryness. What we want to know is thickness and character of insulation, temperature of food chamber (series of observations), and amount of ice used per week under standard conditions. We would be obliged to manufacturers for information on these points. When we get this information from manufacturers, we shall be glad to advise you.

TO WARD OFF SUNSTROKE Mrs. A. B. writes: "Would you kindly tell me how to guard against sunstroke?"

REPLY.
 The most important instruction is to drink no whisky, wine or beer. Next, do not overeat. One-half the winter ration is enough for a hot day. Next, drink water early and often. To drink it often is important. Next, keep the bowels open.

REPLY TO MRS. D.

REPLY.
 Yes, it is significant. You should have an examination for diabetes. It looks as though your system can dispose of so much sugar and when you eat candy you overload.

DIABETES NOT HEREDITARY E. K. writes: "Is diabetes hereditary? Would a boy born when his father had been suffering for a year with a malignant type of the disease be likely to inherit it?"

REPLY.

1 and 2. No.

SUFFRAGE (ES DONATE JEWELRY FOR 'CAUSE

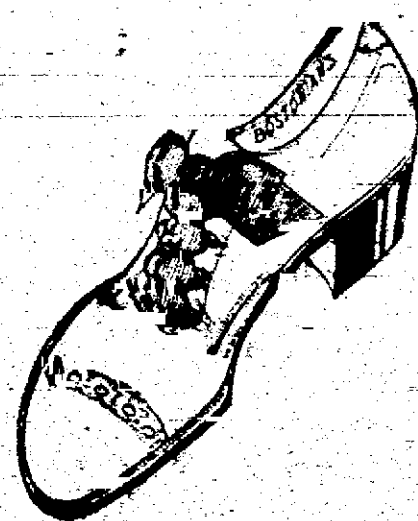

CHICAGO, July 31.—A big gold nugget and a larger chunk of silver were panned today in the safe deposit vaults here of the Equal Suffrage association as a memorial of the self-sacrifice of Chicago suffragists who yesterday threw their rings, bracelets and teeth into the melting crucible for the benefit of the suffrage cause. The ceremony, heralded for several days, took place at suffrage headquarters. All day women came in bearing modern jewelry and heirlooms which they were willing to give up toward the $64,000 fund United States suffragists are pledged to raise. One wealthy woman brought a heavy old-fashioned silver tea set in a basket. Many of the sacrifices consisted of old gold watches, chains and cuff buttons belonging to suffragists' husbands. The value of the gold and silver bricks was not estimated. They will be sent to the mint at Philadelphia for a U. S.

NEW SATELLITE OF JUPITER IS FOUND

SAN JOSE, Cal., July 31.—Photographs taken with the Croley reflector at the Lick observatory on several nights, from July 21 to July 27, give strongest indications of the existence of a satellite of Jupiter, hitherto unrecognized. It is named the eighth satellite, and is half a magnitude fainter. Computations now in progress will eventually fix the character and orbit of this small body.

Motion Seeks Ruling in Joe Dandy Suit

A motion, the granting or rejecting of which probably will go far toward settling the fight between two sets of officers for the management of the Joe Dandy mine in Cripple Creek was filed in the district court yesterday, with regard to a suit which was recently brought there by one of the sets of officers with a view to gaining possession of the mine.

The motion was filed in the case of the Joe Dandy Mining company v. the Joe Dandy Leasing company, T. B. Burbridge and Charles W. Houghton. The suit was brought in the name of the mining company by the set of officers who are trying to gain control. They claim that the leasing company, which holds under a lease granted by the other set of officers, and Burbridge and Houghton, who are subscribers under the leasing company, is trespassing on the property. The motion was filed by Chinn and Strickler of this city, who represent the leasing company, and asks for a rule against Attorneys Crump and Allen, who named themselves as attorneys for the mining company, in filing the suit, and against Lawrence T. Gray, who signed an affidavit in the complaint, saying that he is president of the plaintiff company, ordering them to show their authority for the institution of the suit.

To support its motion, the leasing company alleges that Crump and Allen are not the attorneys for the mining company, and that Gray is not its president, but that Chinn and Strickler are attorneys for the mining company, and William McDonald its president. The directors of the company, the motion claims, are J. S. Miller, C. A. Gleason, H. W. Gliddehaus, William McDonald and Donald McDonald. The leasing company then alleges that these being the officers, attorneys and directors, the institution of the suit was not authorized, and says that it will present further affidavits to support its motion. A demurrer to the original suit also was filed, separately, by the leasing company.

The officers, headed by McDonald, are in possession of the mine. The fight between them and the group headed by Gray began at a meeting of the stockholders of the mining company when the Gray group, it is alleged, claimed to have proxies which the McDonald group said they did not hold. As a result the meeting was adjourned without an election, each group held later meetings and elected its own set of officers, and the lease to the Joe Dandy Leasing company was granted soon afterward by the officers headed by McDonald. Each set of officers now claims that the other set is not rightfully elected.

EVERYONE ALONG THE PIKES PEAK HIGHWAY IS BOOSTING SALT LAKE SOCIABILITY RUN

Pathfinders Hear Talk of Good Roads and Their Development on Every Hand

By H. S. ROGERS.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Aug. 1.—When the pioneer car of the Pikes Peak run to Ocean highway reached Salt Lake City promptly on time last Saturday afternoon, the latest transcontinental route across the two states was insured. The route is practical and interesting.

The members of the pioneer party met with real enthusiasm, the people coming out to meet them, and everyone seemed to fully understand the mission of the car. Leaving Colorado Springs the party found rock in the pass and did not reach Marietta until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. Most of the people in the park in the northern end of it, but there assembled 10 cars and they dined their fish dinner until the visitors arrived. They have also agreed to have a dinner for the entire sociability run party this month.

Leadville Will Be Wide Awake.

No finer views are anywhere on earth as in the park and the pioneers enjoyed the run into Buena Vista, where the night was spent. The next day they shot over the Tennessee pass and Little Mountain and ended the night at Eagle. A stop was made at Leadville. Joe Clark and other good roads boosters coming out to meet them. On the sociability run Leadville is to be a center of control, and the Leadville folks will be able to handle the party in the lead. The ride over Mosquito pass and Battle mountain is thrilling. A very short time, perhaps a year, the grade will be cut down here and a good road established. The day the party was in the region Senator T. E. Ehrhart, state highway commissioner, came in and was going over the pass with Charles Mayer, county commissioner of Eagle county, to look over the situation.

Eagle people are greatly interested. A meeting was held Tuesday night at the First National bank with Louis Schwarz, E. E. Glenn and other prominent citizens present. Hon. J. H. Fessenden happened to be in the town and also attended. The Eagle citizens have agreed to entertain the sociability run group with a trout dinner, and the control has been so arranged. They are an enthusiastic, generous lot and the stay there will be enjoyed by all. The Eagle river runs into the Grand valley below town, and the ride into Glenwood is one of the great trips in Colorado. I have been through Grand river canyon above Glenwood Springs 50 times at least, but I cannot say that I ever really saw it to appreciate it until I took this automobile ride. Mr. Merrick took moving pictures at the Shoshone power plant of the Central company, where the waters leap across the canon, and it should be a fine film.

Real "Dope" on Glenwood.

Austin Gavin, Father Carrigan and a party met the travelers at the power plant. The party ran into town with them. The entertainment consisted of a plunge in the great pool and luncheon at the Colorado. I wish every automobile owner in Colorado could get the "dope" on Glenwood, and then the big hotel would not half hold them every night. Glenwood is a twinkling jewel, an emerald jewel at that, in the heart of the Rockies. They are better equipped to care for travelers than any place that I know. The Motor club has 12 rooms on the main street, and it is open to all travelers, where they can get correct information or rest in luxury and comfort. The McCoy garage is in the same block as handsome and complete as anything in Colorado Springs, and we feel that we are pretty broke in that direction. Of course the baths and the hotel, full of people when we were there.

Glenwood county is up and doing in the matter of roads. This coming winter the canon road above town will be rebuilt by convict labor. We found the gang at work widening a strip of road about 10 miles west of Glenwood, and doing a good job of it.

Mr. Parkinson, Mr. Gavin and others came out a few miles as escort, and J. H. Wallace went all the way on to Meeker. At Rifle we were met by W. S. Montgomery, Road Commissioner, Walbridge and others, who escorted us across to Meeker. It is a half in Garfield county, in fact, as they have a new road, built in 1913. Rio Blanco did not get its state money until this year and they are now building. Road gangs were met in several spots and it is the hope of the Rio Blanco commissioners to have most of it in shape for the sociability run.

Real Boosters in Meeker.

The greatest boosters that we met were at Meeker. That night they entertained us at a dinner at which 50 sat down. As hands as an affair as Colorado Springs could offer. The commissioners and many heavy taxpayers were there, and they made speeches, saying in effect "go ahead and we won't care if you get results." Now, it must be taken into account that Rio Blanco is a county 30 miles wide and 150 miles long, with only 3,000 population, and the road problem is serious. The sociability party will be the biggest crowd that ever came in from the east, and the citizens are prepared to make them happy. They will open their houses. If there is not hotel accommodation enough, At Meeker we found W. S. Montgomery and his charming family to greet us. They once lived at the Springs, and built the big house on North Nevada avenue that recently has come into the possession of Colorado college for office purposes. Their Meeker estate is 1,000 acres, including one tract of 1,300 acres, mostly under cultivation. 1,500 head of cattle ranging in the mountains, coal mines and other properties. On their big ranch is the site of the agency where the Utes killed N. C. Meeker in 1873.

Thursday the car followed the White river down to Rangely, and it was not a hard run until afternoon. Crossing the Stinkingwater basin, in which are the Rangely oil fields, it was slow going. It is desert and many chuckholes. The discomfort of the heat and slow traveling will have to be endured here. It will not always be the permanent

FARMER TO BOOST PRICES ON ACCOUNT OF THE PARCEL POST

Department Official Answers Criticism Against the New System

By JONATHAN WINFIELD.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1.—There is a great diversity of opinion among experts connected with the postal service concerning the benefits which will come to producers through the parcel post. The more optimistic claim that it will be a panacea for all the ills incident to the high cost of living; the pessimistic say that the parcel post has been rather overestimated; that while it is a very fine young institution, it will not have much effect upon the individual because its use will not be very widespread.

In this connection a conversation which I had the other day with Charles J. Brand, chief of the office of markets of the postoffice, is decidedly interesting. Mr. Brand, as you will observe, is one of the optimists who believes that the main fault with the parcel post as it now stands is lack of education in its advantages among those who use it.

"It is important to remember," Brand said to me, "that there is nothing automatic about the parcel post. It is merely a vehicle for transportation and delivery, the successful development of which will depend very largely upon the shipper, though also in part upon the purchaser or consumer."

How It Will Succeed.

"This presumes, with the best of reason, that the postoffice department itself will do its part of the work with dispatch and care.

"Asia method of marketing, the parcel post will succeed only in such measure as it accomplishes more efficiently and economically the functions now performed by the numerous middle interests of the present system. Its greatest advantage naturally will appear, so far as shipments from the farm are concerned, in those commodities which are produced practically in the condition in which they are finally retailed to the consumer, but even in the case of such products there must be a well-understood and businesslike agreement as to how far and reasonable prices are to be arrived at and as to the particular quantities and qualities which are to be delivered at specified prices."

Farmers Boost Prices.

"There is an unfortunate tendency on the part of some farmers who have butter, eggs and other products to sell to ask prices far above those current in their own rural localities and higher even than those exacted by the fancy retail stores of the cities for products of the same grade.

"Fundamentally, there are only two reasons to persuade the customer to undertake the additional trouble and uncertainty for there is a greater or less amount of uncertainty under the present system of securing produce by mail. These are economy in cost and the greater freshness in product. The unusual method will prove to be popular unless it gives results along both lines. Producers must be very careful not to overreach in the matter of prices. Unless they are willing to agree the saving with the customer who agrees to receive and pay for food products, which he has not had an opportunity to examine and whose quality and time of delivering will always be subjected to a degree of uncertainty, there is little prospect of the wide extension of the parcel post system which it deserves, so far as the farm is concerned."

U. S. Promotes Marketing.

Recently the postoffice here has been very active in trying to promote parcel post marketing, collecting lists of names of farmers and others who have produce to sell and printing and distributing these lists to patrons of the Washington postoffice who might become patrons.

"One New Jersey farmer offers eggs at 40 cents a dozen, the year around. A Pennsylvania farmer in June offers fresh white, sanitary eggs at $1 for two dozen; a Virginia farmer offers eggs at Washington quotations, plus 10 cents.

"It is difficult to see how a user of eggs could afford to pay such prices when fresh country eggs are being sold by farmers to country grocers at this moment for prices ranging at 20 and below 30 cents a dozen in trade."

his associates have been more than kind.

Entire Road Marked.

From Rifle over we have logged the way, noting important landmarks, red and white hands have been painted at turns where it is possible for anyone to get wrong. In fact there is but the one road in sight for most of the distance, one that a blind man might follow with satisfactory results. This work will be done more completely on the return trip.

We came through without a mishap. Coming out of Provo a fire picked up a nail on a hard level road and we changed tires, the only incident of the kind in 630 miles over mountains and deserts. I am strong for the little Buick machine that we came in, donated by the Rouse-Stephens company of Colorado Springs. I had never made a trip in one of them and was rather sorry when I heard that it had been selected. I am glad now, because the little rascal can jump a ditch, wriggle out of a gully, and lets no big puffing monster of other auto car breeds throw dirt in its face on a 20 per cent grade. Honestly, I believe it could climb a tree. C. P. Stephens and his assistant, W. M. Babcock, are both fine drivers and expert auto men, and have brought us through with speed and comfort. Babcock should be secured to drive the advance or repair car of the sociability run, if possible.

THE HOMESTEADER'S WEDDING

Out in Wyoming, the Bride, Having to Prepare and Serve the Dinner, Forgot to Change From Her Old Shoes and Apron

Mrs. Eunore Pruitt, Stewart, a woman homesteader in Wyoming, gives a picture of a pioneer wedding describing her marriage to a man for whom she had been keeping house. The following is a part of one of her "Letters of a Woman Homesteader," written to a former woman employer in Denver, and published by Houghton-Mifflin.

The engagement was powerfully short because both agreed that the trend of events and ranch work seemed to require that we be married first and do our "sparking" afterward. You see, we had to think in the wedding between times, that is, between planting the oats and other work that must be done early or not at all. In Wyoming, ranchers can scarcely take time even to be married in the springtime.

That having been settled, the license was sent for by mail, and as soon as it came, Mr. Stewart saddled Chub and went down to the house of Mr. Pearson, the justice of the peace, and a friend of long standing. I had never met any of the family and naturally neither dreamed to have them come, but Mr. Stewart was firm in wanting to be married at home, so he told Mr. Pearson he wanted him and his family to come up the following Wednesday.

and serve papers on the "woman of the house." They were astonished, of course, but being such good friends they promised him all the assistance they could render. They are quite the dearest, most interesting family. I have since learned to love them as my own.

Well, there was no time to make wedding clothes, so I had to "do up" what I did have. Isn't it queer how sometimes, do what you can, work will keep getting in the way until you can't get anything done? That is how it was with me those few days before the wedding; so much so that when Wednesday dawned everything was topsy-turvy and I had a very strong desire to run away. But I always did hate a "piker," so I stood pat.

Well, I had most of the dinner cooked, but it kept me hustling to get the house into anything like decent order before the old dow broke, and I knew my moments of liberty were limited. It was blowing a perfect hurricane, had bought a beautiful pair of shoes to wear on that day, but my vanity had squeezed my feet a little, so while I was busy at work I had kept on a worn-out pair, intending to put on the new ones later; but when the Pearsons drove up all I thought about was getting them into the house where there was fire, so I forgot all about the old shoes and the apron I wore.

I had only been here six weeks then, and was a stranger. That is why I had no one to help me and was so confused and hurried. As soon as the newcomers were warm, Mr. Stewart told me I had better come over by him and stand up. It was a large room I had to cross, and how I did it before all those strange eyes I never knew. All I can remember very distinctly is hearing Mr. Stewart saying, "I will," and myself chiming in that I would, too. Happening to glance down, I saw that I had forgotten to take off my apron or my old shoes, but just then

Mr. Pearson pronounced us man and wife, and as I had dinner to serve right away I had no time to worry over my old toilet. Anyway, the shoes were comfortable and the apron white, so I suppose it could have been worse; and I don't think it has ever made any difference with the Pearsons, for I number them all among my most esteemed friends.
